

THE FOURTH OF JULY IN MADISON CO.,
KY.—AN ORATION FROM CASSIUS M.
CLAY.

The President then called for volunteer speeches or sentiments. Your correspondent offered the following sentiments, which were well received by the audience:

The Hunter of Kentucky—May their cries—never used for freedom—be heard to expunge the crime of Human Freedom.

The Master of the Day—Cassius M. Clay, the Friend of Man.

His name is dear to the heart of every true lover of Liberty.

John C. Calhoun—The man who says that "no man" believes in a Christianity which means something."

After some further remarks upon the great subject of the day, the audience was then dismissed by the President. One thing seems certain—the cause of Freedom is onward in Kentucky. Anti-Slavery voters have the balance of power in this Congressional District. Abolitionists have been elected to

CONCLUSION OF THE CORONER'S INQUEST—VERDICTS OF THE JURY—SPEECH OF CORONER FERRY.

STY—Last Thursday the people residing in the vicinity of West Eighteenth street were thrown into a state of excitement relative to an elopement of a respectable young lady named Emma—, with a young man whose name we have been unable to learn. The facts of the case we obtained from a gentleman who is aware of the transaction, and such we give below.

It appears that about six months ago the young gentleman in question was invited to a private party given by a member of the aristocratic circle residing in Fourteenth street, and was there introduced to Miss Emma—, when he was at once struck with her beauty.

During the evening he danced with her several times, and as the lady attracted attention to her. When the hour they returned to the ball room, where the dancing was kept up until the gray dawn of the rosy morn, when he gallantly saw her home; she politely invited him to call, which he promised to do in a few days.

to have a signal, and a count-down. The signal was given, and the chase of came up. It was but the work of an instant to get the prisoner in the carriage and order the driver to proceed. Scarce, however, had the horses started than twenty or thirty men suddenly appeared and gave chase to the vehicle. They were attired in leucated hats and red shirts, and several of them had knives which flashed in the air as they rushed past the gas-lights. On sped the horses at their greatest speed, the pursuers but a few feet behind and rapidly gaining. The vehicle, however, reached the Prison in advance of the friends of Anderson, who were thus seeking to avenge his death. The prison doors were opened on a signal from Ciesman, and Conzemli lifted but lately vacated by the negro Dorsay; and there he will remain until summoned before the Court to answer for the crime wherewith he stands charged.

DEATH BY DROWNING.—The body of Henry Miller, who was drowned while bathing in the dock foot of Thirty fifth street, North River, on Sunday last, has been recovered. Coroner Hills held an inquest on the remains, and from the evidence adduced, it would appear that after divesting himself of his clothing, the deceased plunged overboard headforemost, and in his descent must have struck his head against a log or other solid substance, and injured himself very severely.

which he sank to the bottom of the river, and was seen no more alive. The Jury rendered a verdict of death by accidental drowning. The deceased lived at No. 100 West 12th street, and was the head of a family. He was 35 years of age.

Use of surgical regulation." [Advertisement.]

H. FOSGATE'S ANODYNE CORDIAL.—An efficacious remedy for Diarrhoea, Cholera Morbus, Flatulent and Spasmodic Colic, and CHOLERA PREVENTIVE.

Successful administration of this medicine for more than half a century, justifies the proprietor in calling attention to its inefficacy in the treatment of the above, or particularly see circular accompanying each bottle. Sold by Druggists generally. Price 30 CENTS.

H. FOSGATE, Proprietor.
SILVER DOR & NUNBERGAARD, Agents, No. 323 Bowery, cor. 4th st.

[Advertisement.]

FINE POCKET CUTLERY.—The subscribers offer a large variety of the above, made by the best manufacturers, and at the lowest prices. Apply to the city. J. & S. SANDERS, 1075 1/2 N. 1st Aven. House.

WATSON'S TEN DOLLAR SEWING MACHINE
WATSON'S TEN DOLLAR SEWING MACHINE
WATSON'S TEN DOLLAR SEWING MACHINE
WATSON'S TEN DOLLAR SEWING MACHINE
WATSON'S TEN DOLLAR SEWING MACHINE
WATSON'S TEN DOLLAR SEWING MACHINE

ARREST OF THIEF.—At an early hour yesterday morning, officer Griffiths arrested a young man, at the Peck-slip Ferry, with a harness in his possession, which had been stolen from Pollock's stable in South-street. Accused, who gave his name as Lewis Minton, admitted having stolen the property, and was sent to the Penitentiary by Justice Clary.

NEW-JERSEY ITEMS.

EXCURSION.—About fifteen hundred persons, connected with the Roman Catholic churches and Sunday Schools of Jersey City, went on an excursion yesterday to Hastings, where they spent the day, and re-